TURN THE KEY

DEAN CHICQUETTE

This key is beautiful.

But it is not the key
we need to open the door.

A large, dark, textured cross, possibly made of stone or concrete, stands against a cloudy sky. The cross is the central focus of the image, with its vertical beam extending from the bottom towards the top and its horizontal beam crossing it. The sky is filled with soft, grey clouds, creating a moody and atmospheric background. The lighting is somewhat dim, emphasizing the texture of the cross and the texture of the clouds.

Here

is the key.

But where is the door?

The

door is your heart.

Put together
and we have...

A silver rosary with a cross pendant is laid out on a wooden surface. The rosary consists of a chain of small, round beads, with a larger cross pendant hanging from the center. The wooden surface has a prominent grain and a dark horizontal line, possibly a joint or a shadow.

A heart of LOVE.

God's way is simple.

Place the key
in your heart and turn to LOVE.

Then what?

Love

Who?
Everyone.

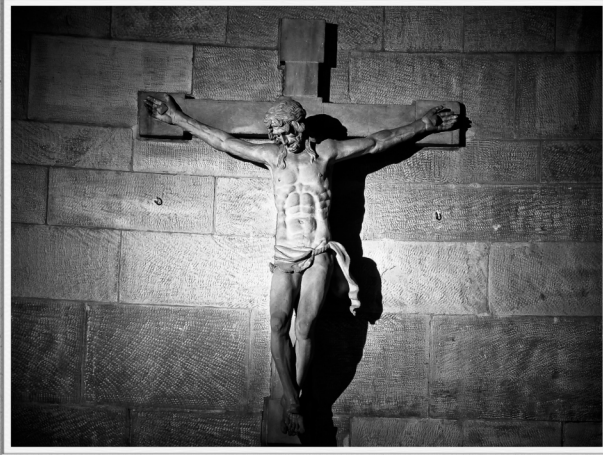

Why?

Why not?

He loved
you first.

Tag,
you're it!

Je-sus!

Means...Jehovah-saves.

Who does he save?

You!

When?

2000 years ago.

I repeat...

Place the key
in your heart
and turn to LOVE.
